POLICING FOR A SAFER AUSTRALIA

JOIN OUR TEAM

The AFP can take its employees to exciting places, provide diverse duties and the opportunity to work with interesting people. A career with the AFP can lead to working with the community, across the country or around the globe.

WHAT DOES A PROTECTIVE SERVICE OFFICER DO?

Protective Service Officers (PSOs) deliver high visibility protective security and first response capability for Australian Commonwealth interests at stations or operations across Australia such as Parliament House in Canberra and numerous Defence sites. PSOs also provide protective security to the diplomatic community.

As valued AFP members, PSOs are law enforcement officials who exercise legal powers and are qualified to use force in the course of their protection duties and will:

- undertake national protective security and first response operations in accordance with standard operating procedures, policies and other instructions;
- assess available information or evidence and determining appropriate law enforcement response(s);
- report, input, collate and retrieve data for operational purposes; and
- maintain cooperative relationships with internal and external stakeholders and the public.
